As summer approaches, I would like to reflect with you on everything we have received during these first months of the year. God has allowed me to see His hand in those little things I need daily. I invite you to thank Him for those little things that become huge miracles in our lives. I would also like to acknowledge that God has allowed me to grow in areas in which I have been prayerfully asking Him to grow. I invite you to be thankful for the growth God gives us. In some moments of doubt and struggles, God has put His merciful hands on me giving me to understand that with Him everything is possible. I invite you to see God's mercy poured out on our lives. Finally, during these first months of the year I have been able to be blessed by a group of faithful servants of the Kingdom of God who strive together to make the expansion of His work here on earth a reality. I invite you to remain in prayer for these faithful leaders so that their strength may be renewed like those of the eagle.

In Christ,
Rev. Pilar Perez
